Policy Name: Library Collection Development: Reconsideration of Challenged Materials

Policy
Despite the care taken by the library professionals to select valuable materials, occasionally objections to a selection will occur. The library staff respects the rights of patrons to express their opinions and will provide the right to challenge library materials for reconsideration. However, no library materials will be removed until the challenge is acted upon and a final decision is made whether to remove or keep the challenged item.

Purpose
To provide a method for patrons to voice their objections to resources held by the library.

Responsibility
Chief Academic Officer  Ensure implementation of policy.
Library personnel  Ensure that patrons have a method to voice objections to library resources.
