TRNS1095 - Special Projects - Transportation

Description:	The Special Projects course provides an opportunity for students to pursue in-depth research, creative work, or a field-based project that is not covered by the standard curriculum. Students work independently under the supervision of a faculty member who sets custom learning objectives and a timetable. The student is responsible for producing a final project, paper or portfolio at the conclusion of the project, as indicated by the faculty member.
